HALF CROP ALL POSSIBLE, SAYS COL. JOEL FORT

Quality Poor, Manufacturers Short, And There Is No Reason For Cutting Out Next Crop

Colonel Joel B. Fort, who is speaking in the interest of the tobacco pool, says the Lexington Herald, returned to Lexington Sunday from a ten days tour of Kentucky and Ohio. When asked about the crop of tobacco he said:

"I have been growing tobacco all of my life and think that I have had experience enough to make me competent to judge the present condition of the crop. Since I have been here more than two months, I have traveled over every part of the Burley growing section, and have talked with tobacco growers from every county in the district.

"I have never seen the prospects for an average crop of tobacco as poor in all these years. I have seen tobacco come out of a dry spell into a rainy spell and make fine tobacco. I have never seen it come out of an exceedingly wet spell into a dry spell and make a crop. In all my travels I have seen only one crop large enough to top out. Ordinarily the bulk of the tobacco would have been topped by the fourth day of July."

"Hundreds of acres have been abandoned on account of the grass and the weeds during the wet spell. Hundreds of acres have been planted in late corn and millet, and the tobacco which has been cultivated, and from which grass has been taken, is still yellow and shows no signs of growth. Hundreds of acres are blooming only a short distance from the ground, rendering the plant practically worthless."

When asked what was his estimate of the percentage of the crop, he said:

Half a Crop Prospect

"Judging from what I have seen myself, and information that I have received, from reliable and competent sources, I am satisfied that there can not be possibly more than half a crop. Owing to the late season and the impossibility of satisfactorily curing tobacco late, that which is produced will be of a very inferior quality.

"As to increased acreage, that is all bush. That fall has been gotten up for the purpose of frightening the farmer and those who have tobacco in the pool.

"This will fail of its purpose. The managers of the Burley Tobacco Society well know that there is no surplus in the hands of the manufacturers and dealers to fall in. In 1910 makes the excellent crop of 1909 now hold in the pool a most valuable piece of property. These facts are being communicated to the poolers. Former dissatisfaction is disappearing, and the pool settlement is growing rapidly.

Appreciates Notice

Dear Mr. Babbage: The copy of your paper containing the notice of our advertising scheme on Title Bond has been duly received by the writer.

He desires to thank you very much for your kindly interest and this letter is just to express his appreciation.

Yours truly,

Evansville vs. Hardinsburg.

The Gold Bombs, of Evansville, one of the classiest bunch of amateur ball tossers in Southern Indiana, will be the attraction at the Hardinsburg ball park next Friday and Saturday. The Hardinsburgers have been playing league ball this season, and do not intend for the Hoosiers to stop their winning streak. A large crowd is expected to witness both contests. Fuchs and Robins will likely be the twirling for Hardinsburg.

New Warehouse at Glendale.

Col. Ernest L. Robertson and Frank Ruppert are building a warehouse at Glendale for handling tobacco and produce. It will be 50x96 feet one story and a half high. The L. H. & St. L. were kind enough to let them build the house on their right-of-way without consideration. The railroad has recently turned over to the town a good well which is highly appreciated by all the citizens.

Executive Committee

A. D. Miller, of the Richmond Climax was elected President of the Kentucky Press Association at its recent meeting at Middlesboro, has announced the following Executive Committee for the present year, viz: Ed. Shinnick, Shelby Record, Chairman; J. R. Lemon, Mayfield Messenger; J. R. Williams, Falmouth Pendletonian; John Lawrence, Cadiz Record, and C. P. Cunningham, Middlesboro News. Congratulations, Bro. Miller, on the excellency of these appointments.— Winchester Democrat.

Strong For Burley Pool.

Hon. A. J. Thompson, of Guston, was in Irvington last week looking after the Burley tobacco interests. Mr. Thompson is a red-hot pooler. He believes it is the only salvation for the tobacco grower. He attended the Lexington meeting held recently, and came home full of enthusiasm for the Burley Tobacco Society. He says President Lebus is one of the best business men in the country, and is a real gentleman in the way he takes care of the poolers. He says Mr. Lebus has over 1,000 acres in the pool and why shouldn't he be interested in its success.

Visiting From Kansas City

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard, of Kansas City, Mo., have been the guests of their cousins, Mr. Joe Smart and Mr. Chas. Smart. Sunday they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Conrad. This week they will visit Mrs. Conrad Simons at Tobinport. They are having hospitality lavished on them.

FARMERS HAPPY.

Big Yield of Wheat and Satisfactory Prices.

Farmers around Glendale have threshed their wheat and are in fine fettle over the yield. They say they haven't had a finer crop in years.

The following parties have threshed and delivered: R. G. Roberts & Sons, 1,200 bushels; Eli H. Dean, 680 bushels; D. C. Moorman, 810 bushels; Jessie M. Howard, 550 bushels; Jessie Moorman, 700 bushels; Chas. Dean, 400 bushels; Jeff Hock, of Hardinsburg, and Green Bros., of Falls of Rough, were the purchasers.

Gone To Detroit.

Mr. T. C. Lewis, the enterprising jeweler of Hardinsburg, is taking his vacation this week attending the Jewelers Convention which is holding its annual session in Detroit this week. Mr. Lewis attends these meetings every year. He says they are a great help to him in his business.

SOLE POWER TO DECLARE POOL VESTED IN VOTES OF GROWERS

With This Guarantee, District Board Elects To Fight Out an Aggressive Campaign Along Original Lines--Eventful Meeting

Adjourns

From The Lexington Herald

The motion which adjourned an eventful meeting of the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society late Thursday, also ordered members to buckle on their armor and go forth to battle as crusaders worthy of their cause.

The most important result of a three-days meeting that a love feast closed, was the adoption of a resolution to defend their convictions and not change a contract that they believed was worthy. At least some who came to champion a per cent clause amendment went away convinced that a real peril had been removed.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN TO START

Arguments which had encroached largely upon the sessions of two days bore good fruit in disillusioning some who had been led to believe that a malady afflicated the Burley District; they departed convinced that Districting was the ill.

The eyes of others were opened as to the real source of the dissatisfaction complained of, and the position and tactics of the enemy were made clearer. Confidence was restored, and with courage, and a harmonious membership left for home sanguine that the assurances they carried would abundantly satisfy their constituencies and enlist them in a whirlwind campaign that will be inaugurated all over the district.

NO COMPROMISE GROUND.

The determination of the board to burn bridges behind and wage war without quarter upon menacing enemies, was manifest, and a fighting spirit was dominant in the get-away. Conscious of responsibility, they elected to fearlessly fight out the campaign upon original lines.

The issue before the growers at large will be either to take an aggressive stand for the pool and the perpetuation of the movement, or admit that their hearts are with the enemy. No compromise ground will be sanctioned.

GROWERS TO RAISE POOL ISSUE.

Resolutions adopted by the board vest in the growers themselves the sole power to declare the pool in effect and with the chance of all to gain, they have the safeguard of nothing to lose. It was the confident belief of the board that in signing his own tobacco the old pooler will become an active

Master Zeno Hendrick

Of the two prizes offered in the Hardinsburg school for the eighth grade pupils who make the best averages in passing to the eighth grade, Master Zeno Hendrick, whose picture we present, won the second, he being a close competitor for the first. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller and is an attentive hard working student, who promises to be among the leaders in the eighth grade work next year. He is a bright manly fellow whose advancement is far above the average for his years, school advantages being considered.

Earl Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas, won the first prize. He failed to let us have his photograph.

Death Of Mrs. Driskell.

Mrs. Driskell, wife of L. N. Driskell, of St. Louis, died at her home there last Saturday of blood poison. She was 29 years of age and the daughter of R. H. ### TRIES TO SAVE ANIMAL'S LIFE, LOSES HIS OWN.

John Frakes, Prominent Citizen of Irvington, Drops Dead After Strenuous Effort To Prevent Horses

Death.

FUNERAL SERVICES SATURDAY.

Irvington, July 26.—(Special).—John Frakes, a prominent citizen of this community and well known for many years as the leading Hotel and Liverpool, of Brandenburg, Meade county, died from over exertion at 8 o'clock Friday afternoon, July 23. Mr. Frakes was superintending the placing of a wagon in a pond when one of the horses attached to the wagon mired down in the mud of the pond. The strenuous effort to save the life of the horse proved too great for Mr. Frakes, and though seemingly perfectly well, when at last the dead body of the animal had been gotten from the pond, Mr. Frakes in a few minutes was seen to throw up his hands and drop dead.

The funeral services were conducted at the home of Rev. L. K. May, pastor of the M. E. church, of which Mr. Frakes had recently become a member. The interment took place at Brandenburg Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Frakes leaves wife (formerly Miss Carrie Price), one daughter, Miss Carrie L. Frakes, two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Brandenburg, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Roberts of New Albany, Ind.; one brother of Tulsa, Okla., besides a number of nieces and nephews and many sorrowing friends.

RAYMOND

Mr. S. A. Stiff Dies At The Age Of Sixty Seven Years

Mrs. Z. C. Henry, widow of Raymond, died Saturday afternoon at 12:30.

Miss Emma Dowell of Clifton Mills visited her sister, Mrs. C. Y. Avitt last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Gilpin spent last week with his sister, Mrs. Fannie S. S. School began here last Monday.

News was received here last week of the arrival of a fine girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wright Chula Vista, Calif.

Henry Cashman was at Vanport last week putting up stones. He also sold several sets while there.

Carl Chappell and family spent Saturday and Sunday with their brother, Chester Chappell of Irvington.

Again our hearts are made sad and desolate by the death of our honored and beloved brother and neighbor, Mr. S. A. Stiff.

He was born March 25, 1843, died July 18, 1910, age 67 years, 3 months, 23 days at home.

Mr. Stiff was a man that was loved by all who had the good fortune to know him.

About the year 1860 he was married to Miss Elizabeth F. Gilpin of West Mountain Co. Va. and unto this union five children were born. He survived by his wife and two sons, Bush, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Otto, of this place; four grand children one brother and two sisters and a large number of friends.

About fourteen years ago he professed faith in Christ and united with the Baptist church at this place and has lived a consistent member since, and during this time has filled various places in the church and Sunday School at this place, being Trustee at time of death. We have not only lost a good neighbor and citizen but the church has sustained a great loss, but God knew and doeth all things right and we must be submissive to his will.

The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

TEN LIVES LOST IN "FLAREBACK"

Disaster Marks Battle Practice at Fort Monroe.

BIG POWDER CHARGE LET GO

The Premature Ignition of 270-Pound Charge Before Breech of Great Gun Was Locked Scattered Death in the Ranks of the Target Crew, Ten Being Killed Outright, Two Mortally and Several Others Slightly Injured.

Washington, July 22.—A breech block of a much gun of Battery D, Fort Monroe, Virginia, exploded without during battle target practice, killing three non-commissioned officers and seven privates of the Sixty-ninth company of the coast artillery. Two other enlisted men received injuries which probably will be fatal, and several others were slightly injured. The accident was the first in the history of the coast artillery corps. Second Lieutenant George L. Van Dusen of the Sixty-ninth company was the only commissioned officer injured. His leg was broken.

Lieutenant Colonel Clarence P. Townsend, commanding officer of Fort Monroe, was officially appointed president of the war department. The accident, he said, was probably due to the premature ignition of the powder charge before the breech block was securely locked in its place. Here are the names of ten of the dead as reported by the Associated Press:

Sergeant Harry G. Hess, Charleston, W. Va.; Corporal Charles O. Adkins, Cincinnati; Corporal Albert Bradford, Dorothy, W. Va.; Privates Roy Duff, Naugatuck, W. Va.; John W. Chadwick, Tazewell, Tenn.; Oliver W. King, Ringgold, Ga.; O. A. Ferguson, Smith, New York; Andrew Mathewson, Paterson, N. J.; James H. Turner, Ripley, Tenn.; Arlie Adey, Brandenburg, Ky.; William C. Schlesberger, Fort Monroe.

A large party of high ranking officers of the army went to Fort Monroe from Washington to see the annual battle practice, which was held as a moving target, component exercise of the officer's school of practice. It was to simulate actual battle conditions as far as possible by firing all the big guns of the fort at an imaginary enemy represented by a moving target, supposed to be entering Chesapeake Bay. It was during this practice that the accident occurred. After placing in the gun a projectile weighing 1,940 pounds and a powder charge of 270 pounds, the breech block is closed and locked before the gun is fired. In the present instance, so ordnance experts here think, a spark from the previous charge must have ignited the powder charge before the gun could lock the breech block. The gun crew could lock the breech block after battle practice, such as was being had, the gunners fire as rapidly as possible. This is believed here, resulted in the introduction of the charge into the breech before sparks of the previous charge had time to die out.

The accident is what is technically a "flare-back." Such accidents have occurred several times in the navy. The coast artillery, however, has been unusually free from serious accidents, this being the first of the flare-back character that has occurred.

Years of Suspense Suffered By Lowery.

Utica, N. Y., July 21.—J. Howard Lowery, a prominent citizen who made away with $144,000 of the funds of the Utica City National bank and who now languishes in the Utica jail, following his arrest in Philadelphia, has made a clean breast of his wrongdoing and his methods to the bank officials and has turned over to them $15,000 in real estate, which he says he got from the time he first made false entries in his books at the bank he lived a life of anxiety and dread. He dared not leave his desk even for a day. He never took a vacation. The visits of the examiners were occasions of terrible suspense. The false figures had to be readjusted, reward and renewed from time to time so that the total would appear right.

Through three or four years Lowery carried this load of care and wore a mask of pleasantness. He was always smiling and affable to the customers who came to his window, and among his fellow clerks he was jolly and apparently care free.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 23.—John Jackson, an ex-convict was captured at Clayville, Penn., charged with abducting Mary Maurer, a six-year-old girl of McMechin and of a prominent family in the town. He was captured before he could lock the breech block. He grabbed the child and kept her a hill all night, subjecting her to indignities. An angry mob pursued him, and fifty shots were fired, but he escaped. He was brought back under a heavy guard to prevent lynching and lodged in the Moundsville prison. ### Visions of Royalty Dazzled This American Girl.

SHE'S REPENTING AT LEISURE

Maryland Girl Became Acquainted With, Married and Separated From "Lord Preston" All Within Twenty Days—It Was Then Found That His Much-Vaunted Castles Were Aerial Varieties and She Wants Divorce.

Mrs. Irene F. Stanley, through her attorney, has filed a bill in the Cecil county (Md.) circuit court at Elkton, for an absolute divorce from her husband, Henry F. Stanley, who in June, 1907, practically had the people in Cecil county believe that the titles he alleged was attached to his name. The couple became acquainted, were married, and were separated all within twenty days, when the handsome castles the bride was to preside over in the old country proved to be myths.

Stanley, claiming to be Lord Preston, was educated at Princeton and several other cities. In 1897 he married a woman named Josephine McVey, one of the largest land owners in Calvert section. He dazzled the McVey family with a story of his high connections and immense wealth, but confided to the Dean family that he was entirely supported by the fact that he could not get into full estates until married, and he offered to give to any member of the family the sum of $1,000 if they would introduce him to a young lady who had been accustomed to wealth and that could grace the title of Lady Stanley in England. Stanley was immediately introduced to several young ladies, among them being Miss Irene Clayton. Stanley proposed, Miss Clayton accepted him and set July 2 as the wedding day.

Meanwhile the "earl" accompanied by Miss Clayton, had a lawyer draw up a marriage settlement giving the future "countess" $100,000. The "earl" found the bride's mother had found him out, skipped to Oxford, Pa., where he took a job as a butcher's assistant. Shortly afterward he disappeared altogether.

Choice For Governor.

LOOKING TO THE MAIN POINT

In the Convention Upon Which Eyes of the Nation Are Turning This Week the Important Consideration With Leaders Is That Everything Must Be Done to Restore the President's Own State to the Republicans.

The Republicans of Ohio began early to tune up for their state convention, the first session of which was held on Saturday evening. On only one point is there anything like unanimity of sentiment in the throngs of Republicans on hand, and this is—everything must be done to save the president's own state next fall.

Most of the Republicans on the ground here are agreed that it is unwise to exceed an exceedingly strong ticket at Dayton and that the slightest mistake now might lead to the re-election of Governor Judson Harmon. It is asserted that for the president to lose his own state next fall in the first election since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, and the important Taft measures would be a dire political calamity and might lead to mighty embarrassing conditions in the presidential year of 1912.

Senators Burton and Dick and their friends have discussed the situation as candidates for governor and while the former, at least, is friends continue to stoutly assert that Oren Britt Brown, judge of the court of common pleas at Dayton, is surely to be nominated, if not on the first, certainly on the second ballot, the present situation is that it is Brown against the field and a strong field, consisting of Garfield, Gidding, James, Rudolph Garfield, Carron, Thompson, Grenville W. Mooney and Representative Nicholas Longworth, ex-President Roosevelt's son-in-law.

The process of elimination and induction has begun. Cox claims 450 delegates for Brown of the 1,066 in the convention. The field insists that Cox is off on his omelette.

If Senator Burton and Senator Dick received any encouragement whatever from Taft from their visit to Beverly it was to see to it that neither Judge Brown nor Garfield was nominated as governor. The field is in full agreement with Cox and Co. It is insisted by those experienced in Ohio politics, is reaching out for control of the Republican organization in the state. Cox for a decade and more has been the Republican dictator of Cincinnati and the field insist that Co. after the state has been without a leader, and there are astute ones who say they are perfectly satisfied that Burton himself desires to be state leader and that the developments of the next two days will surely portray this.

In the effort to eliminate Judge Brown it is pointed out that in this progressive period no old-time political boss like Brown and no dictatorial political boss like Cox can be recognized, and that Brown in a campaign against Harmon would be a campaign against him.

The too long noted by the conservatives would have to do for campaign material would be to trot out W. H. Taft's speech at Akron in 1905, when as secretary of war in Roosevelt's cabinet, he said that if he could be at home in Cincinnati for your election day he would certainly vote in favor of Cox's candidate.

Representative Longworth, his friends say that under no conditions is he a candidate for governor. The story is that Longworth, who gets his nomination from the church by the favor of Mr. Cox of Cincinnati, is a man of Cox as early as last March that he was not and would not be a candidate for governor; that he desired to remain in congress, which was his best field of action. Thereupon Wade Ellis's executive committee selected Longworth to be temporary chairman of this convention.

In his speech to the convention Mr. Longworth is to sound the keynote of the Republican campaign in the state. He is a member of the ways and means committee which framed the Payne part of the tariff bill.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN

Learn The Cause Of Daily Woes And End Them.

When the back aches and throbs. When the head aches and tortures. When night brings the rest not sleep. When urinary disorders sit in. Woman's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured thousands.

Read this woman's testimony.

Mrs. A. Baur, 737 Mulberry St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be unequalled for kidney trouble and lame back. This remedy also corrected a difficulty with the kidney secretions. I sleep much better since using Doan's Kidney Pills and that languid feeling has disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Very respectfully,

M. H. BEARD, Cashier

With this statement we close the twentieth year of our business life and the fourth year of our service in handling estates as guardian, trustee, administrator, etc. In these twenty years there have been good times and bad, times when money was close and times when money was easy and investments difficult to find. We feel that no one will question our claim that we have met all of these situations with credit to ourselves and satisfaction to our patrons. In flush times of plentiful money we have managed our business in a conservative manner and kept clear of wild investments. In lean times we have been as liberal with our borrowers as their necessities demanded, and safety permitted. We believe we can assure the public that we are in position to give them even better service in the future than we have in the past, because we are larger and stronger, and have gained in knowledge by our twenty years experience.

UNJUST SUITS FOR DAMAGES

The following timely editorial is from the Hancock Clarion:

There are a number of people nursing alleged injuries as a result of the wreck in the Hindman Run. Some of the several competent physicians have examined them, and unite in deciding that none are injured, though it is wonderful how they escaped. These people, it is believed, are preparing for an assault on the railroad for damages, when as a matter of fact they are not damaged. Hancock county juries should remember these things, and when such an issue is reached, give to the railroad that justice they would want for themselves. The railroads have enough troubles of their own, and the time is now here when we can afford to be fair with them. It is about ten to one that when these personal injury cases get into the courts, the railroad has made every reasonable effort to settle them outside, but the parties are attempting to hold them up for an exorbitant sum, if, indeed, they are entitled to anything at all. Let other counties practice extortion.

All the Clarion says is true. It seems that there are few people who get hurt by a corporation who do not try to mullet it for heavy damages. Some people who claim to have been permanently injured, and assert that they must go through the remainder of their natural lives as cripples, hobble around on crutches until their suit for damages is finally disposed of in the courts. Then the crutches are discarded and the "permanently injured" plaintiff becomes as spry as ever. The recovery is something marvelous, and astounds the doctors.

That sort of thing has been worked to an excess in the courts of Daviess county, but the juries in Daviess are fair, and unless a clean, clear case is made out, the verdict is for the defendant.

There seems to be an idea among some people that all you have to do to recover damages against a corporation is to file your suit and have it tried before a jury of farmers; that the farmers are so prejudiced against the corporations that they will return a verdict awarding damages against the corporation, regardless of the evidence. But the farmers of Daviess county have taught several plaintiffs that the farmer may have grievances against a number of corporations, but still he is a fair minded man and is ready to render full justice even unto a corporation that has heaped upon him unjust burdens.

If damages are secured through Daviess county juries the plaintiff must prove beyond question that he is entitled to damages.— Owensboro Inquirer.

STILL CELEBRATING OUR BIRTHDAY

For the last ten days we have been celebrating our birthday. We were not quite certain of the date and were too lazy to look it up in the family Bible. However, we think it is a fine way to celebrate. Mr. Babbage had apple dumpling every other day and plain cake between times, trying to hit the right date. Our neighbors and friends sent in good things to eat, congratulations and heartiest wishes from day to day. We "dressed up" every morning for the occasion and the only objection we could make to this all-week celebration is that it's hard on one's Sunday clothes. We have also received some letters for which we are grateful and one is as follows:

Dear Mr. Babbage: I thought it best to "drap" you a line to congratulate you on passing the 65 mile stone in life, and also congratulating you on successfully steering the News through 34 years of ups and downs and both coming out on top, all smiles. May you be handed down to the rising generations as the Henry Watterson of the News. No one would have it anything else. We may all wander away from old mother Kentucky but a fond remembrance will always linger with us for her and the many friends we left behind. May the Holy Saints continue to hover over all of you is my earnest wish.

Edgar Adkisson, Red Fork, Oklahoma, July 18, 1910.

An interesting program of the Sunday School Convention to be held at Irvington next Saturday appears on our third page. If you want to get enthused on Sunday School work you should not fail to attend this convention. Irvington is a live Sunday School town as well as a live business town and you'll be treated all right.

We feel sorry for John W. Barr, president of the Fidelity Trust Company, and his board of directors. They were fooled in their man like all honest men sometimes are. But like honest men and heroes they are standing by their old ship pledging their last dollar to pull her through.

The wheat, corn and tobacco crops are fine in this county. There is some complaint around Hardinsburg about the tobacco crop being short in that section, but from all other points the crop is reported good. Breckinridge county farmers never had a brighter future.

The Fidelity Trust Company, of Louisville, is one of the oldest institutions of the kind in the State, yet one of its trusted employees got away with a million one hundred and forty thousand dollars. The stock has dropped from $3.35 to $1.

There is no doubt but what Irvington folks will put up the best things they have for the Sunday School delegates next Saturday.

Former President Roosevelt will speak for the re-election of Senator Lodge in Massachusetts.

Judge Settle, of the Court of Appeals, has decided that the County High School does not necessarily have to be built at the county seat, but may be at any other point where sufficient funds are raised.

The police of the city of Louisville have made a thorough search over the West for Wendling, the murderer of Alma Kellner, but without results.

Vic Robertson says they are going to have one of the best fairs this year they have ever had. Plenty of fine stock coming.

Good live reading on every page in this paper. You can't head us off when it comes to publishing a live country weekly.

The people of Texas have voted in favor of submitting a Prohibition amendment to their State Constitution.

The tobacco crop in the Burley district is said to be short this season, and there will not be over half a crop.

The political pot is beginning to boil at Hardinsburg. Tom Moore is there.

The editorial page of the Lexington Herald is one of the best in the State.

In Love With Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Barnes, of Rock Island, Ill., came in last week to visit Mr. Barnes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barnes, who live near New Bethel, this county. It was Mrs. Barnes' first visit to Kentucky. She went home feeling that she had met a kind, hospitable, social people entirely different from what she had heard about them. Mrs. Barnes said she was actually afraid to come to Kentucky she had heard so much about the feuds and killings. She returned home feeling proud of Kentucky, and that she had married a Kentuckian.

STORIES WRITTEN

While The Press Thunders

BY LOUISE

It seemed last week that everybody's heart went down—the heavy rains seemed disaster to the wheat crop and people in town and in the country were anything but joyous. We ran across one person who passed the News office with a good recipe for the blues. He said "Well, I just slammed the door on a stack of blues as high as a bedstead this morning and now I am O. K. I always leave them at home". He was as jolly as though the Hardinsburg baseball fellows had won a score over Louisville Colonels, and no one would imagine that Jeff Dillon could get the blues. "When you get 'em, slam the door on 'em", said Mr. Dillon.

"The editorial you gave us in your last issue, commenting on the announcement made by us, was to the point and I am sure will be a material aid to us. We thank you very much for this as well as the other nice things you have said about us. Very respectfully, M. B. Kincheloe." Along with the dollars, words of appreciation are worth a great deal and the editor of the News certainly was pleased with this note from Mr. Kincheloe.

o o o

Sam Conrad and Marion Behen are making beautiful places out of their homes in the West End. Mr. Conrad has filled his front yard even with the side walk and has an attractive iron fence. On the north side of the yard a stone wall about five feet high has been built and this will be covered with climbing roses in another season. Mr. Behen's place is greatly improved with a cement pavement and walks. No prettier homes are in town than these.

Many Berry and the citizens of Cloverport are busy getting ready for the Mason's barbecue August 18. The streets are being cleaned, yards are being beautified and many homes are being "dressed up" for the occasion. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Cordey is being newly painted in buff.

SUMMER COMFORT

A Sewing Chair That's That and Lots More.

GIFTS FOR THE TRAVELER.

Amusements For Children on an Ocean Voyage—Summer Window Shades That Make for Coolness—A Delicious Lemonade That is Little Known.

Dear Mabel—New York became so intolerably hot that we just rented down town for a week. We had a delightful afternoon not long ago, and bushily found a charming cottage which had not been rented, so we took it, and at the present moment I'm sitting on the porch with a glorious view of the ocean in front of me, for you must know that the ocean is easy to get to from a hour's ride from town and right on the ocean. Well, the chair that I'm occupying is one of the joys of my life, and I stumbled across it quite unexpectedly in a department shop last week. It is called a sewing chair, but it has many other uses. At first glance it looks like a regular easy rocking chair, with the peculiarity of having solid sides, but when these sides, which are hinged at the seat, are let down, the sides become well understood. These sides become transformed into broad arms on which you may lay your sewing or use your writing pad as I'm doing now. Except for unusual work these arms are as good as a table. But I'm not through with the attractions of the chair, for you can turn it off and on again. You want it to be stationary and fold them up, and the chair will rest firmly on its four legs. What do you think of that for a "stun" piece of furniture?

Gift for the Traveler.

Dorothy D. went abroad last week, and I made her such a pretty little present, one that I found useful in our travels. It's a simple portfolio made of gray canvas, with a single large panel "for thoughts" worked on the cover. To make the portfolio all that is necessary are two pieces of cardboard, the desired size, which are covered with the canvas and lined with violet silk. The two materials I overlap together all round the edges. With a bangle of ribbon the portfolio is complete. Oh, yes, I forgot to say that the reverse side of the cover is embroidered Dorothy D. and I. and that two bows passed around the portfolio are tied to keep the contents secure. I used my case for preserving prints and drawings while traveling.

And, talking of gifts, when children keep you happy, they take very little to amuse children. A box of gifts to last through the days of ocean voyage can be arranged that may make all the difference between a pleasant and a disagreeable trip to both mother and child. Such a box was recently given to some children by a friend of mine. The outside box of generous proportions, was tied about with a silk flag, for the youthful traveler, particularly if he is a boy, wants to flaunt the stars and stripes on all parts of the world. Each box contained into the large one was numbered, with directions as to when it was to be opened and how its contents were to be used. For instance, "Box No. 1" contained peppermints to be opened after the first meal on board. "Box No. 2" was an exciting game to be opened the next afternoon. A morning gift was a tablet and a set of colored crayons. Another gift was a set of bean bags made of blue lines marked with the owner's initials. A game of cards with the pictures of the masterpieces in art was a helpful gift. An outfit for making paper flowers was a very suitable gift for the girl of the party, and to one of the boys just what we all wanted to tell the time a dollar watch was given.

Older little people frequently get restless on long trips. For them was a box of candy made doubly sweet by writing some little personal messages and humorous sayings on bits of paper and wrapping them around the bonbons. And what child would not love to receive a pretty box containing a fountain pen, a book of stamps, a few special delivery stamps, postal cards and paper wrappers? Little red leather record books would be a great amusement most important when making notes of the trip. And what fun it would be to read such notes written by a child of an imaginative mind!

Doubtless Shade.

I think it so queer that more housekeepers do not know about double shades that are to be had for the window, which are particularly desirable. They are not wonderfully new; but, as I have just hinted, very few women know of their existence. Most women who want to keep out the glare of the summer sun, yet have attractive window shades, will be pleased to find two sets of shades, the dark green ones hanging next the window to keep out the sun and the white ones next the room over which to hang curtains of cool looking net or muslin. This is bunglesome and unattractive. It is better to have a double shade that are green on the outside and white or cream on the inside, or if you want the dark side next the window they can be made in this way.

Mother has just brought me a glass of "froze lemonade." You never heard of it? Precious! It's a new drink, and is perfectly delicious, and I know you'll bless me one of these hot days if I give you the recipe. Take a large punch bowl, put in a pound of sugar, three quarts of water, the juice of two dozen lemons and one of pineapples and add two bottles of seltzer water. Add some of the dozen or so ripe strawberries or cherries and thin slices of pineapple and lemon. If not sweet enough add more sugar. When thoroughly mixed add a large square of ice and let the mixture get very cold before serving. Fill the glasses one quarter full of crushed ice and fill up with the lemonade. The very generous quantity, but the proportions could be easily reduced. Yours sincerely, MABEL.

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md.—For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am now well. I have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends.

As a result of the cure, all forms of disease remaining is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other vegetable remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irritation, rheumatism, pain in the joints, and that bearing-down feeling, flatulence, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means fail.

Because I have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial,

Queen of the home she loves so well and graces so beautifully. Her place is warm in the heart of the man who honors her with this, the only title she ever should have applied to her.

"My wife!" She is part and parcel of every farm operation. She is the woman of her husband's consuel and his guide, his stay in times of trouble, and his helper always and everywhere. She holds his hands when storms come and cheers him in all the dark ways of sorrow. She is trusted because she trusts. She finds her real joy of living in the sunshine of her husband's presence.

"My wife!" is honored by her little ones. "She's—oh, the pity of the word! It could only be blotted out and in place be written that better and dearer and sweeter name, "wife".

You love your wife, don't you? Of course you do. She is the one for whom you would do most and strive most and live most. Then give her the most beautiful of names,—"wife". Farm Journal

Household Hints.

Do you know that coffee stains, even when there is cream in the coffee, can be removed from the most delicate silk with glycerin? Rub the stain with pure glycerin? Rinse in lukewarm water and press on the wrong side until quite dry. The glycerin absorbs both the coloring matter and the grease.

Do you know that if cloth is wetted and wrung out as dry as possible with the hands and wrapped around cheese and then the whole put in a large paper bag and kept in a cool place the cheese will retain the moisture and freshness of a newly cut cheese?

Do you know that if peeling apples the brown stain that generally appears on peeled slices can be avoided by setting each slice as it is peeled in a basin of cold water? Thus no contact with the skin is possible, and the stain is avoided.

The water draws out the acids, and there is a sacrifice of flavor to color if this plan is used and the apples are soaked too long. Any discolored slices will turn white again if rubbed with a piece of lemon.

Do you know that sometimes the meat is so tough that it is difficult to remove the flavor and odor of the meat from the utensil in which it was cooked?

This is frequently the case with fish, onion, cabbage, etc., but there is a remedy which may be a little trouble and yet is well worth trying. After any of these articles have been cooked wash utensil well with soap and water. Then nearly fill it with cold water and for each quart of water add one tablespoonful of dissolved washing soda.

Place on the fire and let the water get boiling hot. Now pour the water into the dish. Rinse the utensil with clean water, and dry it well. It will be found perfectly sweet.

Election May Be Contested.

Louisville, Ky., July 23.—A count of the votes cast in the primary election shows that the city of Louisville, Ky., went dry by the narrow margin of seventeen votes. Leaders of the high license forces have not yet decided whether to contest the election in the courts.

NATION'S EYE ON WOODROW WILSON

Princeton's President May Be Democratic Candidate For the Governorship of New Jersey.

Tendency Growing to Let Educational Theorists Experiment With American Political Conditions.

He met and later married Miss Ellen Louise Axson, a belle of Princeton.

From 1883 to 1885 he took a post-graduate course in Johns Hopkins after which he accepted professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr. He next held the same chair at Wesleyan university. From 1890 to 1902 he was professor of jurisprudence and politics at Princeton. While in this position he was offered the presidency of other colleges, an advance of salary, but preferred to remain with his alma mater. Since 1902 he has been president of Princeton.

The sponsors of Wilson's boom for president and therefore of his candidacy for governor are said to be ex-Senator James Smith of New Jersey, Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois and Colonel George Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly. The announcement was made after President Wilson had been in conference at the Lawyers' Club in New York.

For all of these several reasons and some others political wise ones which that Wall Street is back of the move, there is no doubt that Colonel Harvey and his cronies have been instrumental in getting the name of Wilson out of the Democratic party by Bryan and that ex-Senator Jim Smith has long been regarded as a little brother of the trust.

However these things be, the big papers of the country are taking Woodrow Wilson very seriously, and if he should be nominated and elected to that office his candidacy for the presidency would be more serious yet. Therefore he is a factor to be reckoned with.

Mentioned For 1908.

It was in 1906 that Colonel Harvey first nominated Wilson for president. He threw it out as a mere brilliant idea, but one like most of the Harvey suggestions—but contrary to his expectations—and his experience—it "caught on." All sorts of letters were received from all sorts of corners of the land approving the proposal. For one in his life Colonel Harvey has been a political chisel, so he kept on bombing Wilson.

True, nothing came of it in 1908. Bryan wanted that nomination, and the Democratic party wanted him to have it. Now apparently both Bryan and the party have changed their minds, and there is a chance for a second try. Wilson is not so foolish as Harvey, so he tries for the decisions experience of again striking the popular chord. But he has grown wiser in the four years. He has learned that the American people demand in the president a man of practical political experience. So he decides to try his candidacies in the governorship of New Jersey and so qualify him for the bigger job. At least to a man up a political tree that looks like the psychology of the proposition.

Let us give a long Harvey due credit for one thing. He has again caused that coveted popular chord to vibrate. The talk of Wilson for governor is buzzing all over New Jersey, and soon the gossip of him for president will be buzzing throughout the country.

Wilson a Cleveland Democrat.

Woodrow Wilson was the friend of Grover Cleveland. While the ex-president was a lecturer at Princeton the two frequently discussed politics and kindred subjects. They were of course, as well, both believing in lofty standards, individual honesty and courage, both being old school Democrats and both opposing Bryan. Public affairs are congenital with Dr. Wilson, for, while his highest reputation has been gained as an eminent chief interest is political economy and government. Possibly that is because he was born in Virginia or because he once practiced law in Atlanta, or it may be due to temperament.

Wilson is not only a political economist, but also a man of letters. His works have become too classic. Among others he is the author of "Congressional Government," which appeared in 1885 and immediately gained him a reputation as an original thinker; "The State," which came out in 1889, dealing with all branches of constitutional law; "Principles of History," covering American history from 1829 to 1889; "Mere Literature and Other Essays"; "George Washington" and a "History of the People of the United States."

Most of these books are standard authorities in colleges, and all of them show research, scholarship and in place brilliancy. "Division and Reunion," while written from the viewpoint of the southerner, reveals a breadth and wholesomeness Americanism that rob it of offense for northern readers.

Has Grasp of Events.

In all his political and historical writings Dr. Wilson shows himself a fundamental humanist with a special insight into the spirit and purposes of the founders and builders of the nation. He is also a lecturer who speaks before popular meetings as well as before educational and scientific bodies. His voice is said to be that of Henry Ward Beecher.

Wilson is fifty-three years of age and was graduated from Princeton at the age of twenty-two. He was christened Thomas Woodrow, but in college he called "Ernest" by his friend Grover Cleveland, who was originally Stephen Grover. He amputated the first name. After leaving Princeton Wilson studied law in the University of Virginia and practiced in Atlanta for two years. It was while in Georgia that the trusts he has said:

"The thing that keeps water in stocks is secrecy. If this board were taken out of the shipway the water would all run out, and then people would know what they had left."

College Presidents In Public Office.

We have had much talk of the service of college presidents in diplomatic positions and a few commissions we have never placed a college president in public office. President Taft made Professor H. C. Emery the head of the tariff board and asked President Hadley of Yale to take first place on the commission to study the tariff. Professor A. N. Ainsworth, Andrew D. White and some others have been recognized in foreign embassies. Jacob Gould Schurman was on the Philippines commission, but we never put the head of a college at the head of the nation. There is one exception I believe, as James A. Garfield, he had been president of a small college.

Known a Good Story.

Despite the fact that he is a dignified educator, Dr. Wilson enjoys an occasion tells a good story. Here is one concerning his predecessor, the late Dr. McCosh.

Wilson says that McCosh was known to crack a joke only once. It was why should we not draft the knowledge, training and high ideals of the teacher in our government service? For example, why should not the draft political economists be some part of the government? The whole economy of the nation? If it be objected that they are only theorists, then give them a chance to correct the defect by practical experience. Both the college and the government would be the gainers, the government in example of the good story.

Wants to Hear Much

Dear Mr. Babbage: you will find enclosed my check for $1.00 for the News, but please don't leave out Irvington, Big Spring, and Custer items. Arthur Brackenridge Suter, Highland Park, Ky.

Back to Railroad

To assume his new duties as city ticket agent for the Southern Railway in Louisville, a position to which he was recently appointed, Harry H. Board will leave Lexington Friday for the Falls City. Mr. Board has been the efficient and popular manager of the Postal Telegraph Company's office in this city since March 1, but resigned recently to go with the Southern.

While his friends here regret his departure, his new position is more in line with his previous experience, as he was formerly with the Southern and also with the Henderson Route as ticket agent before coming to Lexington.

Mr. Board went to her home in La-

Grange, Ky., Monday to remain there for a short visit with her relatives and until they could obtain a suitable location in Louisville, when they will go to housekeeping.—Lexington Herald.
